

Report by Cllr Bob Johnston

1. August has been a very quiet month, as one might expect, without any meetings or briefings whatsoever.
2. However, the issue of the bridge over the railway at Redbridge has emerged. Apparently, the bearings on which it rests have gone and the whole lot now needs replacing. There are no details available at the moment.

All we know is that it will cost millions and will probably take two years. It will in all probability delay the Oxford Relief Channel for a further two years. As soon as I have more details, I will share them. My aim will be to keep disruption to local residents to an absolute minimum.
